Selecting and Caring for Seed Corn.

fivery farmer who expects to plant god corn next year of his own rais should select it in the field this fail and give it the proper care during the winter. Everyone who is not growing a variety with good breeding behind it should get such a variety before another year goes by. Once a productive variety is found, seed should be selected from one's own field rather than buy seed from a distance, as the imported seed is Hody to be not so well adapted to local conditions as the home-grown seed. In buying new seed, it is safest to get it from a grower of reputation as pear home as possible,

Most corn growers select seed from the crib in the spring; therefore it is not possible to know about the conditions under which it grew. The whole plant, and not the ear, is the unit of selection. The reasonable way, then, is to go into the field when the corn is coming into maturity, and select good ears on well developed stalks of the same maturity. The stalk should be of me dium height, stocky and vigorous. bearing the ear about four feet from the ground, with a good shank that gives the ear just enough drop to protect it from the rain. Select two or three stalks in a hill, according as you expect to grow two or three in a hill. An ear that is good with one stalk in the hill might have been part in competition with other stalks in the hill. See that there are no nubbin or barren stalks close to the selected plants, as they are generally from weak seed, and the ear will have been cross fertilized by them. Mark the eurs selected by tying a tag to them, and allow them to mature thoroughly. Gather as soo as mature, busk and hang up in a dry, well ventilated place where there will be no injury by mice. A very good way to hang corn is to string it up so that the ears not touch each other, very much as boys thang up their papcorn. Select at least twice as many ears as will be needed for seed since many will have to be discarded as not coming up to the desired type. These points cannot be determined in the field. In the spring before planting time make a germination test of every ear, and discard all weak ones. Select 50 of the finest and strongest ears and shell them together plant them in a seed block in a place on the farm where they will be least exposed to your neighbor's corn. The select the next year's seed from this block as directed for selecting in the field. Plant each year a seed block by using the best 50 ears. This procedure will improve the the yield this writing. and quality of your corn.

"I Suffered Intense Pains in My Left

Do you realize it is better to be safe than sorry, that it is the best policy to lock the stable door before the horse is stolen?

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

cured Mrs. C. C. Gokey, of a stubborn case of heart disease, such as thousands are now suffering with. Read what she says:

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles" Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart frouble for over five years. I had grown so weak that it was impossible for me to do thirty minutes work in a whole day. I suffered intense pains in my left side and under the left sheukler blade, I could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath that I thought I should never be able to take a full breath again. The least excitement would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a hall-bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. I began to sleep well, had a good appetite, and improved so rapidly that when I had taken six bottles I was completely cured.

A Hair Splitting Joke.

One of the latest stories of Secre tary Knox tells of his necent wisit way back in the audience. In the front row sat a bald-headed man whose polished orb cast a reflection like an ivory ball in the brilliantly 56 lighted theater. His companion was a tall lady with a wealth of hair, waved and puffed-a coiffure of gigantie proportions. Someone slyly quoted the biblical aphorism "To him that bath shall be given and from him that _ hath not shall be taken away even that he hath." which the Sometary insisted Presently someone just back of the conspicious ccuple arose to go out. Although the rows were close together, yet he safely passed the bald-headed man, but alack and alas the projecting psyche knot of the lady was struck amidship and turned awry, and all unconscious, in the glory of her manufactured hair, she sat with the cluster patts pointing directly northeast. The comedian on the stage thought his jokes fell not upon barren ground as he listed to riples of laughter in the audience, and not until . later, when the psyche knot, with a dexrous turn of the hand, was adjusted, did the lewity subside -- From "Affains at Washington," by Joe Mitchell Chapple in the National Magazine for
